Carolyn Healy

Project Community Facilitator

I am a Director and co-founder of Red Kite Network Limited, a landscape, ecology and green space consultancy with clients throughout the UK. A big part of our work is helping local communities with environmental improvements, regeneration projects and influencing how local facilities and spaces are developed and managed.

Before establishing Red Kite, I worked in local government for almost 20 years, mainly managing parks and countryside sites including Severn Valley Country Park near Bridgnorth and The Mere at Ellesmere.

I have worked with local communities on a range of projects from creating new play areas to turning derelict areas into new open spaces and conserving valuable wildlife and heritage sites and have supported community groups to apply for grants and learn new skills.

I am also a Trustee of the Severn Gorge Countryside Trust and a busy mum to a very active 3 year old.

I am delighted to be part of the Lye and Wollescote Cemetery Chapels team and over the next 12 months will be working to get lots of local people involved in the project.
